Power of Central Government to direct rules to be made or to make or amend rules.

(2) If such Bar Council fails or neglects to comply with such order within the specified period, the Central Government may make the rules or amend or revoke the rules made by that Bar Council, as the case may be, either in the form specified in the order or with such modifications thereof as the Central Government thinks fit.

(3) Every rule made under sub-section (2) shall be laid, as soon as may be after it is made, before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two successive sessions, and if before the expiry of the session in which it is so laid or the session immediately following, both Houses agree in making any modification in the rule or both Houses agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that rule.”.

Notwithstanding the repeal by this Act of the provisions of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, or of any other law relating to 18 of 1879, the admission and enrolment of legal practitioners (hereafter in this section referred to as such Act or law), every person who migrates to the territory of India from any area which, before the 15th day of August, 1947, was comprised within India as defined in the Government of India Act, 1935, and who has, before such migration, been a pleader, mukhtar or revenue agent in any such area under any law in force therein, may be admitted and enrolled under the relevant provisions of such Act or law as a pleader, mukhtar or, as the case may be, revenue agent, if he—

(a) makes an application for the purpose to the appropriate authority under such Act or law; and

(b) is a citizen of India and fulfils other conditions, if any, specified in this behalf by the appropriate authority aforesaid, and notwithstanding the repeal by this Act of the relevant provisions of such Act or law, every pleader, mukhtar or revenue agent so enrolled shall have the same rights as respects practice in any court or revenue office or before any other authority or person and be subject to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the same authority to which he would be subject under the relevant provisions of such Act or law as if they had not been repealed and accordingly, those provisions shall have effect in relation to such persons.

58AD. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, all persons who, immediately before the date on which the provisions of Chapter III are brought into force in the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu, were entitled to practise the profession of law (whether by way of pleading or acting or both) under any law in force in the said Union territory or who would have been so entitled had they not been in public service on the said date, shall, for the purpose of clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 17, be deemed to be persons who were entered as advocates on the roll of a High Court under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926, and every such person may, 38 of 1926, on an application made in this behalf within such time as may be specified by the Bar Council of Maharashtra, be admitted as an advocate on the State roll maintained in respect of the said Union territory:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any person who, on the date of the application aforesaid, was not a citizen of India.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every person who, immediately before the date on which the provisions of Chapter IV are brought into force in the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu, was practising the profession of law (whether by way of pleading or acting or both or in any other way) by virtue of the provisions of any law in force in the said Union territory, or who does not elect to be or is not qualified to be enrolled as an advocate under sub-section (1), shall, notwithstanding the repeal by this Act of the relevant provisions of such law, continue to enjoy the same rights as respects practice in any court or revenue office or before any other authority or person and be subject to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the same authority which he enjoyed, or, as the case may be, to which he was subject, immediately before the said date and accordingly the relevant provisions of the law aforesaid shall have effect in relation to such persons as if they had not been repealed.

(3) On the date on which this Act or any part thereof comes into force in the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu, the law in force in that Union territory which corresponds to this Act or such part and which does not stand repealed by virtue of the provisions of section 50 of this Act, shall also stand repealed.

58AE. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, all advocates who, immediately before the date on which the provisions of Chapter III are brought into force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, were entitled to practise in the High Court of that State, or who would have been so entitled had they not been in public service on the said date, shall, for the purpose of clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 17, be deemed to be persons who were entered as advocates on the roll of a High Court under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926, and every such person may, on an application made in this behalf within such time as may be specified by the Bar Council of India, be admitted as an advocate on the State roll maintained in respect of the said State.

Special provisions in relation to Jammu and Kashmir.

38 of 1926.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every person who, immediately before the date on which the provisions of Chapter III are brought into force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, was entitled otherwise than as an advocate to practise the profession of law (whether by way of pleading or acting or both) by virtue of the provisions of any law in force in the said State, or who would have been so entitled had he not been in public service on the said date, may be admitted as an advocate on the State roll maintained in respect of the said State, if he—

- (i) makes an application for such amendment in accordance with the provisions of this Act; and
- (ii) fulfils the conditions specified in clauses (a), (b), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 24.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every person who, immediately before the date on which the provisions of Chapter IV are brought into force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, was practising the profession of law (whether by way of pleading or acting or both or in any other way) by virtue of the provisions of any law in force therein, or who does not elect to be or is not qualified to be enrolled as an advocate under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), shall, notwithstanding the repeal by this Act of the relevant provisions of such law, continue to enjoy the same rights as respects practice in any court or revenue office or before any other authority or person and be subject to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the same authority which he enjoyed, or, as the case may be, to which he was subject, immediately before the said date and accordingly the relevant provisions of the law aforesaid shall have effect in relation to such persons as if they had not been repealed.

(4) On the date on which this Act or any part thereof comes into force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, the law in force in that State which corresponds to this Act or such part thereof which does not stand repealed by virtue of the provisions of section 50 of this Act, shall also stand repealed.”.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

On the basis of the recommendations of the Advocates Act Review Committee and the experience gained in the practical working of the Advocates Act, 1961, the Advocates (Second Amendment) Bill, 1968, was brought before Parliament. While the Bill was before the Select Committee of the Lok Sabha, persistent demands for further extensive amendments in the Act were voiced by the Bar Councils, Bar Associations and other individuals. The National Conference on Legal Aid held on March 28-29, 1970, in New Delhi suggested that to begin with an amendment of the Act should be undertaken at the earliest to provide for the constitution of a compulsory fund for legal aid. In view thereof, it has been considered desirable to replace the Advocates (Second Amendment) Bill, 1968 by a comprehensive amending Bill, which takes into account these and other suggestions. The Bill seeks to make the following, among other amendments:—

(i) Extension of the Act to Jammu and Kashmir and Goa, Daman and Diu.—The Advocates Act, 1961, provides for a unified all-India Bar with one class of legal practitioners, namely, advocates who would be entitled to practise in all the courts in India including the Supreme Court. At present the Act extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir and the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu. The object underlying the Act cannot be fully achieved unless it extends to these areas too. It is, therefore, proposed to extend the Act to the aforesaid areas as well.

(ii) Legal aid to the poor.—It is proposed to make it obligatory on each Bar Council to constitute a Legal Aid Fund and to formulate a legal aid scheme for this purpose. Every State Bar Council will credit to its Legal Aid Fund at least Rs. 100 out of the enrolment fee (which is being raised from Rs. 250 to Rs. 350), charged by the Council for admission as advocates. Similarly, 10 per cent. of the income of the Bar Council of India from enrolment fees is to be credited to its Legal Aid Fund. These Funds can be augmented by donations and grants. Bar Councils will constitute Legal Aid Committees to organise legal aid to the poor in accordance with the provisions of the scheme.

(iii) Pre-enrolment training.—The Bar Council of India has decided that in future a degree in law can be obtained only after undergoing a three-year course of study in law after graduation as a result of which the age of entry into the legal profession becomes much higher than the age of entry in other professions. It is, therefore, felt that after a three-year course in law in a University it is not necessary to retain the statutory provision in the Act requiring a further examination or practical training.

(iv) Recognition of foreign qualifications on reciprocal basis.—

At present, for the purposes of enrolment as advocates, barristers are treated on the same footing as holders of Indian law degrees. It is proposed that for the future a call to the Bar would be treated on the same footing as any other foreign qualification in law and would be recognised only on a reciprocal basis. To avoid hardship to Indian students who are now studying for the Bar on the basis of the existing legal provisions, the existing concession would continue to be admissible to those who are called to the Bar till December 31, 1973.

*(v) Dresses for advocates.—*At present there is no provision in the Act to enable the Bar Council of India or any State Bar Council to prescribe a uniform dress for practising advocates. The Bar Council of India is being empowered to prescribe certain forms of dresses from which a State Bar Council may adapt any one or more dress or dresses having regard to the climatic conditions prevailing in that State.

*(vi) Right to practise for legal practitioners migrating from Pakistan.—*Legal practitioners have been migrating from Pakistan to India and in order to cover their cases it is proposed to provide that such legal practitioners shall be allowed to continue to practise as pleaders, revenue agents or mukhtars, even if they are not entitled to be enrolled as advocates under the Advocates Act, 1961.

2. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects. Opportunity has been taken to make certain other amendments.

3. The notes on clauses appended to the Bill explain the provisions of the Bill.

NEW DELHI;

JAGANATH RAO

The 18th August, 1970.

Notes on Clauses

Clause 2.—This clause seeks to extend the Advocates Act, 1961 to the State of Jammu and Kashmir, and to the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu. The Central Government is empowered by notification to fix the date on which the Act will come into force in these areas and different dates may be chosen in respect of different provisions of this Act.

Clause 3.—

Sub-clause (1) (a).—It seeks to clarify that persons who were vakils or pleaders before the coming into force of the Advocates Act, 1961 and were thereafter enrolled as advocates are also entitled to be considered as having been advocates at all times and for all purposes. This is to remove doubts about their status in relation to other advocates.

Sub-clause (1) (b).—It is proposed to omit clause (f) of section 2 of the Act as it has been noticed that the preparation and maintenance of the common roll of advocates by the Bar Council of India, as contemplated by sub-section (1) of section 20 of the Act would be extremely expensive and cumbersome. The object would be equally served by providing for copies of the State roll being sent to the Bar Council of India.

Sub-clause (1) (c) (i).—Clause 26 proposes to empower the High Court to fix fee for the adversary's advocate, pleader, vakil, mukhtar or attorney in all proceedings before it and the courts subordinate to it. Judicial Commissioner's Courts are proposed to be treated as High Courts for this purpose.

Sub-clause (1) (c) (ii).—The Union territory of Delhi has a separate High Court and is no longer under the High Court of Punjab. Hence this amendment is proposed.

Sub-clause (2).—The Act is proposed to be extended to the State of Jammu and Kashmir. All the laws applicable in India are not in force in that State but the State has certain corresponding laws. This sub-clause seeks to provide a rule of construction for any reference in the Act to a law which is not in force in that State.

Clause 4.—Section 3 deals with the constitution of the State Bar Councils. It is proposed to have a separate Bar Council for the State of Jammu and Kashmir while the Union territories of Goa, Daman and Diu and Dadra and Nagar Haveli will have a common Bar Council with the State of Maharashtra.

The post of Additional Solicitor-General of India having been abolished, it is necessary to provide for the discharge of the functions performed by him under the Act. It is proposed that the place of the Additional Solicitor-General of India should be taken by an Advocate nominated by the Attorney-General of India.

The States of Assam and Nagaland and the States of Punjab and Haryana have common High Courts and common Bar Councils. It is proposed to make a specific provision that the Advocate-General of each of the States should be an ex-officio member of the concerned Bar Council.

At present all State Bar Councils consist of twenty members, except the State Bar Councils of Assam, Orissa and Delhi which consist of fifteen members. The Bar Councils whose member strength exceeds 10,000 have represented for greater representation. It is proposed that the strength of the State Bar Councils be regulated on the basis of their electorate.

Under the existing proviso to section 3(2) one-half of elected members of a State Bar Council are required to have at least ten years' practice as advocates. With a view to bring a more mature body of persons to the Councils, it is proposed to raise the standing at the Bar of such members to fifteen years.

Clause 5.—It is proposed that the membership of the Bar Council of India should be open only to advocates with fifteen years' standing.

It also provides that a member of the Bar Council of India shall cease to hold office as such if he ceases to be an ex-officio member of the State Bar Council which he represents.

Clause 6.—Section 6 deals with functions of the State Bar Councils. It is proposed to empower the State Bar Councils to conduct seminars, etc., on legal topics and to organise legal aid to the poor by constituting a Legal Aid Fund for this purpose.

Clause 7.—Section 7 of the Act deals with functions of the Bar Council of India. It is proposed to delete the provision regarding the preparation and maintenance of common roll of advocates. The Bar Council of India is being empowered to conduct seminars, etc., on legal topics and to organise legal aid to the poor by constituting a Central Legal Aid Fund. The Council is also being empowered to recognise foreign legal qualifications on a reciprocal basis for the purpose of admission as an advocate under the Act.

Clause 8.—It is necessary for the Bar Council of India to become a member of international legal bodies and to contribute funds to such bodies by way of subscription or otherwise. The clause confers the necessary authority.

Clause 9.—Elections to the Bar Councils involve considerable expenditure. In order to curtail the expenditure the term of office of members of State Bar Councils is proposed to be extended from the present four years to five years for members elected after the Advocates (Amendment) Act, 1966 came into force. The term of office of the member nominated by the Attorney-General of India to the Bar Council of Delhi is also fixed at five years.

Clause 10.—It is proposed to provide that all members of the disciplinary committee, which is invested with plenary powers including that of striking advocates off the rolls, shall be advocates of not less than fifteen years' standing. Consequential amendment has also been suggested to save pending proceedings.

Clause 11.—The new clause seeks to empower the Bar Council of India and the State Bar Councils to constitute Central legal aid committees and legal aid committees respectively. Their members are to be advocates of fifteen years' standing. The Bar Councils are also being empowered to co-opt members having special knowledge or practical experience in respect of legal aid programmes.

Clause 12.—In order to cut down avoidable expenditure on touring the new clause proposes that meetings of the Bar Council of India and its committees except the disciplinary committees should be held at New Delhi. Similarly the meetings of the State Bar Councils and their committees except disciplinary committee shall be held at their headquarters.

Clause 13.—To ensure the proper management of finances by State Bar Councils and the Bar Council of India, it is proposed to make a provision for sending of audited accounts to the Bar Council of India and the Central Government by the end of the financial year.

Clause 14.—The new clause requires the Bar Councils to formulate a scheme for legal aid to the poor.

Clause 15.—It provides that elections of the members of the Bar Councils shall be by secret ballot with a provision for postal ballot for electors who are out of station.

Clause 16.—This clause seeks to provide that special knowledge or experience in law may also be taken into account in designating an advocate as a senior advocate.

Clause 17.—In view of the provision contained in section 17(1) (a) of the Act any person, entered as an advocate on the roll of any High Court under the Bar Councils Act, 1926, who failed to express his intention to practise within the jurisdiction of a Bar Council in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed time, can be enrolled as an advocate only if he applies afresh for enrolment, pays the prescribed fee and satisfies the other necessary conditions. This is also applicable to advocates enrolled in Pakistan, and who migrated to India after the expiry of the prescribed time. To avoid this undue hardship, the proposed amendment would enable these persons to give requisite notice to practise and become advocates under the Act.

Section 17(3) provides that the seniority of vakils, pleaders and attorneys who were enrolled as advocates should be determined in accordance with the date of their entry in the register of vakils, pleaders or attorneys as the case may be. It is proposed that the seniority of vakils, pleaders and attorneys who were not entitled to practise in the High Courts under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926 and who were enrolled as advocates immediately before the appointed date, namely, the 1st December, 1961 or thereafter, shall be determined according to the date of enrolment as advocates, and for that purpose to delete clause (c) of sub-section (3) of section 17 of the Act.

Clause 18.—At present there are some advocates of the Supreme Court whose names do not appear in any State roll. Provision is proposed to be made that they should enrol themselves on any State roll of their choice within the prescribed period. In the event of their failure to do so, their names would be transferred to the rolls of the Bar Council of Delhi.

Clause 19.—In view of the proposed abolition of the common roll of advocates, consequential changes are sought to be effected by this clause.

Clause 20.—Sub-section (1) of the proposed new section is of consequential nature due to the abolition of the common roll of advocates. Sub-section (2) seeks to make the entry of a new advocate known and more dignified.

Clause 21.—It seeks to delete sub-section (3) of the Act consequent on the abolition of the office of the Additional Solicitor-General of India.

Clause 22.—Section 24 of the Act is about persons who may be admitted as advocates on a State roll. The undermentioned amendments are proposed in this section:—

1. To make a three-year law degree from any University in India the minimum essential qualification for eligibility for enrolment as an advocate.

2. At present a barrister is treated in the same way as the holder of an Indian law degree for his eligibility to practise in India. It is proposed that a call to the Bar should be treated like any other foreign legal qualification in future. Exemption is proposed to be granted till 31st December, 1973 in order to avoid hardship to the Indian students who have already started their studies at the Inns of court.

3. Provision regarding requirement of practical training and examination before enrolment as advocates is proposed to be abolished.

4. On the coming into force of the Advocates Act which provided for the preparation of a roll of Advocates by the Bar Council, Entry 30 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 which provided for the levy of stamp duty for entry as an advocate on the roll of any High Court, became inapplicable. Recently certain State legislations like that of U.P. have amended the Stamp Act to provide for the levy of stamp duty on the entry made in the roll of the Bar Council. In the absence of any express provision in the Act, the Bar Council finds it difficult to recover the stamp duty from applicants for enrolment as advocates. It is proposed to enable the Bar Councils to collect such stamp duty where levied.

5. The enrolment fee is being increased from Rs. 250 to Rs. 350 in order to provide a nucleus of funds for giving legal aid to the poor.

6. In view of the proposed amendment to section 17 which deals with cases of legal practitioners who migrated from Pakistan, section 24(3) (b) has become redundant. It is proposed to be deleted.

Clause 23 and 25.—These are consequential amendments in view of the proposed abolition of the common roll of advocates.

Clause 24.—It is a consequential amendment to the provision contained in clause 18 ante.

Clause 26.—Section 27 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 empowers the High Court inter alia to fix fees for adversary's advocate, pleader, vakil, mukhtar or attorney in all proceedings before the High Court and the courts subordinate to it. But the section would stand repealed as soon as Chapter IV of the Advocates Act would be brought into force. There is no comparable provision in the latter Act. The clause seeks to achieve the purpose.

Clause 27.—A State Bar Council is being empowered to transfer cases pending before one of its disciplinary committees to another either of its own motion or on application and the provision relating to summary rejection of complaints is being omitted and certain consequential changes made.

Clause 28. (a) It is a consequential amendment in view of the proposed abolition of the common roll of advocates.

(b) Sub-section (2) of section 36 of the Act empowers the disciplinary committee of the Bar Council of India to withdraw for enquiry any disciplinary proceedings against an advocate pending before the disciplinary committee of any State Bar Council. It is proposed to omit this sub-section in view of the provisions contained in the new proposed section 37 wherein appeal from the decision of the disciplinary committee of a State Bar Council shall lie to the High Court.

(c) It is consequential to the provisions contained in the new section 37.

Clause 29.—The proposed new section 36A seeks to ensure continuity in the proceedings of a disciplinary committee of a Bar Council in the event of its reconstitution.

Clause 30.—Under the existing section 37 of the Act an appeal lies to the Bar Council of India from an order of the disciplinary committee of a State Bar Council regarding the conduct of an advocate. It causes considerable hardship to the appellants who have to come from far off places to Delhi. It is proposed that an appeal from the decision of the State Bar Council should lie to the High Court of the State concerned.

The new section 37A is intended to provide for the continuance of the disciplinary proceedings and appeals pending before the disciplinary committee of the Bar Council of India under sub-section (2) of section 36 and section 37 of the Act as they stood prior to their amendment.

Clause 31.—The appellate authority is being authorised to enhance the punishment awarded to an advocate after giving him an opportunity of being heard.

Clause 32.—The Indian Limitation Act, 1908 has been replaced by the Limitation Act, 1963. Hence this change.

Clause 33.—It empowers the High Courts and the Supreme Court to stay the operation of any order appealed against and until an appeal is filed it empowers the disciplinary committee to stay its own order proposed to be appealed against.

Clause 34.—This amendment is consequential on the proposed abolition of the common roll.

Clause 35.—It is proposed to save the proceedings of a disciplinary committee being declared as invalid merely by reason of the absence of the Chairman or a member thereof. However, no final orders are to be passed in their absence.

Clause 36.—Like the disciplinary committee the enrolment committee, the election committee, the legal aid committee and other committees of a Bar Council and the Bar Council of India are being empowered to summon witnesses, and to enjoy other powers exercisable by the disciplinary committee under section 42 of the Act.

Clause 37.—It is a consequential amendment in view of the provision contained in clause 30.

Clause 38.—As the increase in the enrolment fee of Rs. 100 under clause 22(a) (iii) of the Bill is intended to provide a nucleus for the legal aid fund to be constituted by every State Bar Council, the same should not be taken into account in computing the share payable to the Bar Council of India out of the enrolment fees. Section 46 of the Act is proposed to be amended accordingly.

Clause 39.—State Bar Councils have felt at times the paucity of funds to carry on their functions under the Act. The clause seeks to authorise the Bar Council of India to give financial assistance to State Bar Councils by way of grant or otherwise.

Clause 40.—Under section 48 of the Act, indemnity against legal proceedings has been provided for any Bar Council or any committees thereof or a member of a Bar Council. There is no such provision for a member of a committee of a Bar Council. It is proposed to remove the lacuna by extending the same indemnity against legal proceedings to a member of any such committee as well, for his bona fide acts.

Clause 41.—This is a consequential amendment to clause 30 vesting the appellate jurisdiction in the High Court instead of the Bar Council of India.

Clause 42.—It is proposed to empower the Bar Council of India and its committees (except the disciplinary committee) to review their own orders.

Clause 43.—It seeks to enable the Bar Council of India to prescribe the minimum qualifications for admission to a course of degree in law in any recognised University. It also empowers the State Bar Councils to prescribe the dress of advocates. It also seeks to provide that new rules about the standards of professional conduct and etiquette shall be approved by the Chief Justice of India before being brought into force.

Clause 44.—Under section 49A of the Act the Central Government has the power to frame rules for the purposes of the Act. Any rules so made would over-ride rules made by the Bar Council of India or by a State Bar Council. In order to preserve the autonomy of the Bar Council and to avoid requests being made for interference in their day-to-day matters, it is proposed to delete the provision. However, it is proposed to empower the Central Government to issue directions to the Bar-Council on matters on which it may make rules. It is further proposed to lay before Parliament the rules made by the Central Government under the proposed new section 49A(2).

Clause 45.—This clause seeks to allow displaced persons from Pakistan to practise as pleaders, mukhtars or revenue agents even if they are not entitled to be enrolled as advocates under this Act (new section 58AC).

With the extension of the Advocates Act to the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu and the State of Jammu and Kashmir, the legal practitioners are proposed to be given the right to get themselves enrolled as advocates subject to their satisfying certain conditions. The right of those legal practitioners, who do not elect to be enrolled as advocates have also to be preserved. New sections 58AD and 58AE are proposed to be inserted for the purpose.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 14 of the Bill seeks to empower the Bar Councils to frame a scheme for the purpose of organising legal aid to the poor, the broad outlines of which are given in the Bill. Clause 15 seeks to amend section 15 of the Advocates Act, 1961, pertaining to the rule making power of the Bar Councils. It is proposed to empower the Bar Councils to make rules subject to which advocates can exercise their right to vote; for the preparation and revision of electoral rolls; and for the manner in which results of elections shall be published. Clause 24 proposes to amend section 28 of the Act. It empowers the State Bar Councils to frame rules regarding the time within which and the form in which an advocate shall express his intention for entry of his name in the roll of a State Bar Council under the proposed section 20. Under clause 26 it is proposed to empower the High Court to make rules for fixing and regulating by taxation or otherwise the fees payable as costs by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's advocate in all proceedings in the High Court or in any court subordinate thereto. Clause 43 seeks to empower the Bar Council of India to prescribe the minimum qualifications for admission to a course of studies leading to a degree in law in any recognised University. It also empowers the Bar Council of India to prescribe the form of dresses, from which a State Bar Council may adapt any one or more dress or dresses having regard to the climatic conditions prevailing in the State. Clause 44 seeks to substitute section 49A of the Act by a new section 49A, which empowers the Central Government to direct a Bar Council to make any rules or to amend or revoke any rules already made. In case the Bar Council fails to comply or neglects to comply with the direction, the Central Government may make such rules or amend or revoke an existing rule as it thinks fit. These rules shall be laid on the Table of the Parliament.

2. The various matters with respect to which rules may be made under the Act are matters of detail. The delegation of legislative power is thus of a normal character.
